

WILDFIRE DANGER UPDATE

Waterways

July 12 2012

HIGH

Important notice

The three wildfires grouped together as the Birch River Complex are just over 2300 hectares in size, not 23,000.

Fires 137, 138, and 140 are burning in the High Level area, but will be managed by Fort McMurray. These three fires are being grouped together as the Birch River Complex. They are burning out of control approximately 20 km south of Wood Buffalo National Park, just west of the Birch River, at over 2300 hectares in size. A Type 2 Incident Management Team has been assembled to manage this complex.

Sorry for the confusion.
